- A. THE IMPORTANCE OF A STRONG VOICE
- B. A SERIOUS DANGER TO YOUNG ACTORS
- C. INTENSIVE PREPARATION FOR EVERY PLAY
- D. THE MOST POPULAR ACTORS IN ELIZABETHAN TIMES

E. SEVERAL ROLES PLAYED DURING ONE PERFORMANCE

F. REASONS WHY DANCING WAS NOT ALLOWED ON STAGE ACTORS IN ELIZABETHAN THEATRE

1. Acting was not an easy profession in Elizabethan times. A theatre company often presented a different play every day, so before each performance actors had to learn new roles. It took them many hours because plays were very long and actors had to memorise a lot of texts from different plays at the same time. Actors also had to constantly practise their dancing and fighting skills

2. In the plays there was a great variety of characters but theatre companies usually hired no more than twelve actors. In order to reduce costs an actor was expected to play a number of parts in one play. Any actor who had short speaking parts had to run backstage, put on a new costume and get back on stage as a different character.

3. During the Elizabethan era only men were allowed to play roles in the theatre. Teenage boys with high voices who acted as females had to put on white make-up which contained lead. This chemical substance was not safe to use and, as a result, the boy actors had serious trouble with their skin and sometimes even died because of health problems

4. Elizabethan theatregoers paid careful attention to what was said during a play. They wanted to hear all the words clearly. Because there weren't any microphones and the performances were in the open air, the actors needed to speak loudly and clearly with good breath control. Though the fights and dancing were very entertaining, it was the words that moved the audience most.

Mike, I'm happy that you've decided to try snowboarding. You asked if you should have your own snowboard. If you're still not sure that this is the sport for you, I think it would be better to rent one. Then, if you find that you love this sport, you can buy your own snowboard. Remember to tell the rental person that you need a beginner's board. They are a different shape. And try on the boots before you go out on the hillside! Please, share some photos of your first day out. Bye, Andy

I pull my helmet off and look up at the crowd. I notice Mom. She always supports me but she worries I'll get hurt. I wish my dad was here. He rarely comes to my football games. People think it's because he's busy, because he's Donovan Woods, the famous head coach of the Tennessee Titans. The truth is he doesn't want me to play. Why doesn't he want me to choose the same career? After all, he loves the fact that my brother plays for the University of Tennessee. So what's Dad's problem with me playing? He thinks there is no place in this sport for a girl.
